

SOUTH AFRICA | EUROPE | USA

COMPRSA delivers a wide range of services, including custom application development, integration solutions, and product engineering. We offer a flexible partner integration model with a transparent approach toward continuous communication by combining proven expertise in technology and an understanding of business requirements.

DEVELOPMENT

- software re-engineering, migration & deployment
- selection of optimal technologies & system planning
- careful design & proper coding
- complex applications integration
- various frameworks for rapid software development
- enterprise application development & integration

MOBILE

- responsive design development
- native mobile development
- hybrid mobile development
- progressive web applications
- cross-platform mobile development
- rich internet application development

UI/UX

- user interface design
- content development
- wireframing & prototyping
- customer analysis & design research
- responsiveness & interactivity
- adaptation to all devices

LEARNING

- rapid elearning
- animated & fully interactive elearning
- customized courses
- blended learning strategies
- migration to elearning courses & modules
- instructional design & technical writing

SERVICES

- software design & development
- creating product requirements
- maintain network infrastructure
- quality assurance & testing
- implementation consultants
- support & training

INTEGRATIONS

- data integration
- workforce management
- talent management
- performance management
- api & platform integration
- learning provider & learning content

