ABOUT US

Software Engineering Partner

COMPRSA is a U.S.–South African software engineering partner trusted by enterprises such as AT&T, GP Strategies, and Baker Tilly to build, modernize, and run mission-critical software for regulated industries. With nearly 30 years in business, 150+ retained specialists, and a single operating model across the U.S. and South Africa, we deliver the stability of a long-term partner—not the risk of a broker chain or contractor pass-through.

WHY WE'RE DIFFERENT

Advantage for U.S. Clients

COMPRSA is a U.S.-led, South African-engineered delivery partner built to support businesses with aligned operations, strong engineering capability, and reliable cross-border execution.

01

U.S.-facing operations

Delivery aligned with U.S. regulatory expectations, reducing friction for enterprise and AI-enabled work.

04

Flexible scaling model

Delivery capacity scales with business needs, without compromising quality or continuity.

02

English-speaking & culturally aligned

Teams communicate directly and work comfortably within U.S. business and delivery environments.

05

Structured collaboration

Teams work to create reliable overlap with U.S. counterparts, enabling direct collaboration, clear communication, and well-managed delivery across time zones.

03

Cost efficiency without compromise

South African delivery economics provide cost advantage while maintaining senior engineering quality.
